

Eddie is the visionary that hatched the concept of EDGE. He is a founding partner that is focused on business development for all EDGE offices. His passion and tireless work ethic have helped shape the office culture of EDGE.

As Vice President of Marketing at EDGE, Eddie is primarily involved in the business development and marketing of the overall “vision” of the firm. His personal commitment to health has become a professional asset, as he incorporates healthy lifestyle solutions to the firm’s current philosophies, particularly design solutions that are based on a more healthy community and environment.

In addition, Eddie is committed to giving back to the community through numerous public service projects. Eddie donates his time and energy to various charities, including his own non-profit organization, Visions with Infinite Possibilities (V.I.P.). Eddie’s fitness company, EGX Lifestyle, has conducted free camps for children in Columbus and Nashville to promote fitness and wellness.
